AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—(P)—Opposition to the state financial participation in a celebration of Texas 100th anniversary of independence cropped out again today in the Texas legislature.

Representative Harold Kayton of San Antonio revived his resolution requesting the centennial commission to change its plans for the observance to provide for a series of historic pageants to be given at historic spots. The commission's prospectus calls for a central exposition at Dallas with patriotic celebrations at points prominent in Texas history.

The resolution was killed last week by the house state affairs committee, five to two. Kayton today raised the point of order against the committee's action on the ground that a quorum of 11 members was not present at the committee hearing. The point was sustained by Speaker Coke Stevenson and Kayton then succeeded in having the state transferred from the resolution committee to the committee on highways and motor traffic of which he is chairman.

Plan Present Petition. R. L. Young, Sr., of Abilene planned to present a petition, signed by 511 Abilene citizens, protesting against any state appropriation for the centennial to the house committee on taxation and revenue tonight when that group meets to consider centennial revenue bills.

GOVERNMENT FIGHT

DISCHARGE AFTER HEARING OF EVIDENCE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29.—(P)—U. S. Commissioner Julian Campbell ruled today that Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., may not be removed to Louisville for trial on charges of kidnapping of the child of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll. "From all the facts before me," Commissioner Campbell said in a prepared opinion, "I find not only that there is no probable cause to believe Thomas Henry Robinson, Sr., guilty, but no fact to reasonably believe a suspicion of his guilt."

The opinion added: "The government admits that this defendant is only sought for trial at Louisville, Ky., on what he did or might have done before the actual kidnapping as a conspirator. "It results that it is my duty to refuse to order the removal of Robinson, Sr., held for removal. Let the defendant be discharged."

After the opinion was read, Major Horace Frierson, Jr., U. S. district attorney said he contemplated taking no further action in the removal case at Nashville. "The other move in the case," he declared, "must originate at Louisville."

Back to London

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Cathcart Jones and Ken W. Waller landed at Allahabad at 9:55 a. m. G. M. T. today after a flight from Singapore. They said they would not take off toward England until tomorrow morning.

The fliers reached Singapore non-stop from Port Darwin, Australia, yesterday, covering the 2,084 miles in less than 11 hours, averaging 201.7 miles an hour. A delay at Port Darwin, badly hurt their chance of beating the time of 70 hours, 59 minutes and 50 seconds made last week from England to Melbourne by C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black. Eight of the original 19 starters from Mildenhall airbase in the Melbourne derby still have to reach that city.

CHARGES RUSSIAN

'PROTOCOLS ELDERS'TESTIMONY GIVEN BEFORE
CRIMINAL LIBEL ACTION OF LAWSUIT

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 29.—(P)—Sergius Swiatkow, who served as the vice governor of St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), under the Kerensky regime, declared in court today the so-called "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" were fabricated by secret Russian agents at the French National Library. This testimony was given before the criminal libel action of a lawsuit in which Jewery is attempting to show it did not lay plans to rule the world. Jewish leaders are attempting to prove these documents known as the "Protocols" are forged and false.

It was on these "Protocols" that the Nazi regime in Germany, according to the testimony of G. Heller, one of the Nazi witnesses for the defense, was largely based. Swiatkow said when he began to disband the Czar's secret police, Henri Bind, a Frenchman, and one of Russia's secret police agents, told him the "Protocols" were prepared by General Rachowsky, supposed to be the head of the Czar's secret police in Paris, with the aid of a man named Goloknysky, an agent provocateur and expert liar.

Relief Revision,
Liberal Loaning
Policies Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Revision of relief policies and liberalization of the federal loaning policy to private industry was advocated today by Senator Harrison (D-Mo.) after a conference with President Roosevelt. Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, said the necessity for a tax bill at the forthcoming session would hinge upon relief requirements still to be determined.

He said the time had arrived when direct relief could be diminished in favor of loans for rehabilitation.

BLUSTERING ADVANCE AGENTS
WINTER INVADED SECTIONS OF
EAST AND SOUTH; MUCH DAMAGE

(By The Associated Press.) Blustering advance agents of winter invaded sections of the east and south today.

At least six ships suffered in storms off the Atlantic coast; two men were killed in an open boat off the Maine coast, and storm warnings told of high winds and gales from Boston to Hatteras. Snow fell frequently earlier today in eastern Pennsylvania, covering the Pocono mountains with a coat of three to four inches. There were flurries yesterday in parts of New Jersey, New York, New England and Ontario.

Temperatures dropped to freezing yesterday in Maine, and as low as 28 in upstate New York. They reached 37 in New York City. The weather bureau predicted they would fall to 30 today—the first freezing weather of the season for the metropolitan area.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 29.—(P)—The stagnation of the market for new securities reflects continued uncertainty as to the future, not a strike of capital, said George W. Bovenizer, president of the Investment Bankers Association, addressing its annual convention today.

Bovenizer told the bankers that the securities act, which many investment bankers have blamed for the low volume of financing, "has become a much more workable instrument" as result of the amendments at last session of congress.

Total production of local manufacturing plants in Corsicana during 1933 was valued at $1,208,715 according to a preliminary summary of data collected in the biennial census of manufacturers taken early in 1934 released today by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

(By The Associated Press.) The doors of 300 A. and P. stores in the Cleveland area stayed closed today. Cleveland's jobless increased by approximately 2,200 at the closing order, given, the company said, because of "labor trouble."

Former employees of the stores called on President Roosevelt to intervene in the dispute over their operation. The president returned their telegram to the national labor relations board.

Milwaukee meat cutters' strike began in 47 chain stores, after the A. and P. in Milwaukee closed 26 of its meat departments.

The strike of order, given by American Federation of Labor unions, affected 38 A. and P. stores and nine stores of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company. It had no effect in Racine.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said he would begin an inquiry into labor's differences with the A. and P. Green, in a statement last night, fixed the number of men employed in September as $43,000 greater than a year ago and stressed "the urgency of an immediate federal program to put men back to work in industry."

Glass Workers Threaten. Delegates at the convention of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America, in Pittsburgh, talked of "action-wide strike" after rejecting the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company's answer to labor demands.

Deadlocked employers and representatives of 20,000 striking glass and rayon workers in the east planned to renew their conferences today. The union ordered picket lines established to prevent any resumption of work at the plants.

A two-month strike at Millville, N. J., ended with textile workers accepting the Millville Manufactory's offer.

SOCIATION OFFICIAL

KILGORE, Oct. 29.—(P)—The federal tenders board today passed 24 crude oil tenders, already checked by investigators, en masse today when no challenges were made.

Two others forecast crude tenders, subject to filing of an affidavit showing the amount of crude already run this month, also were approved. Only one product tender was sought and it was held when no company representative was present.

Norman L. Meyers, chairman of the board, announced that meetings would be held daily at 11 a. m. and said he expected to have a ruling prepared shortly making it unnecessary for an individual producer to make reports to the federal board, but instead would be covered by affidavits made in tender reports of interstate pipe lines taking crude.

He also requested that applications for tenders be filed by 3 p. m. the day preceding the hearing the next morning "so the board won't have to work every night."

HONOLULU, Oct. 29.—(P)—Wing Commander Sir Charles Kingsford Smith landed at 8:40 a. m. today (1:10 p. m. central standard time) at the army air base at Wheeler field, completing his second successful flight between Hawaii and Fiji.

Already the first to span the ocean by air from California to Australia in 1931, the 1933 feat which brought him international recognition and knighthood—Kingsford Smith added new laurels today by flying from Naeasale Beach, 20 miles from Suva, to this field in 25 hours five minutes.

The plane, Lady Southern Cross, swooped cleanly to the field. After the all-day and all night flight, in which Kingsford-Smith and his navigator, Capt. J. G. Taylor, cut across both the equator and the international date line, they came in "under wraps," throttling the motor to approximately 100 miles an hour for the last 30 miles of the flight. A crowd of about a thousand which had driven the 30 miles to the field from Honolulu hung leis of fragrant flowers about the necks of the aviators as, cramped and weary, they tumbled from the cockpits of the single engined, low winged monoplane.

They said they did not sight land until very close to the Atchafalage. Heavy clouds blanketed the islands, but with regular shots at the sun they held strictly to their course until the oblong, sharp.

ATLANTA, Oct. 29.—(P)—Sundry contests are stirring interest in the general election in the south, which ordinarily is a mere ratification of the democratic nominees.

RELIEF CANNING UNIT, MATTRESS FACTORY ARE BUSY

THOSE DESIRING CANNING DONE MUST APPLY WEEK AHEAD FOR PLACE

Two phases of the federal relief work, the canning project, mattress factory, which started work Friday, October 19, were progressing rapidly this week, and a large number of the county's unemployed have been given work, and a considerable volume of products has been turned out. The canning goods and mattresses are given for relief in this county.

Mrs. J. O. Walker of Mildred is in charge of the canning work, which is being done in the plant back of the relief headquarters, corner Beaton and West Second streets, and P. P. Tipton has charge of the mattress factory, corner of East Seventh and Avenue South Ninth street.

Since opening, the mattress factory has employed an average of between 50 and 60 men weekly, working on shifts of 15 men, and the canning plant has had about 120 men during that time, an average of 15 daily. The government furnishes the cotton and ticking for the beds. All work is done by hand.

The product of the mattress factory employs 10 persons on two six-hour shifts, and has turned out as high as 213 cans in one day. The capacity at present is approximately two years' supply. A number of other items in the vegetable line are canned, but there are some things the unit will not handle.

The products furnished by local farmers or producers, and in the case of beef canning, the person providing the beef gets 65 percent of the cans, and the local relief agency retains 35 percent. The cans are distributed among those needing relief here.

Those in charge of the canning unit invite people to bring their excess produce to be canned on percentage basis, but urge that they make reservations at least a week ahead. They recommend that persons having produce for canning come to the local office and make arrangements in person. Orders will be filled any time during the week except on Saturday afternoons.

Meat that has been condemned by the government will not be packed, it was pointed out. Vegetable cans and other items that are the unit keeps 55 percent of the cans and the producer gets 45 percent. There are a number of vegetable and other items in charge want to talk to the producers before

DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN SALESMAN IN WIFE SLAYING

BIG SPRING, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The death sentence hung over R. E. Hildreth, 46-year-old automobile salesman, today after his conviction by a district court jury for the ice-pick slaying of his wife, Docia.

The defense did not immediately announce its future plans after the jury, guided by Hildreth's sudden plea of guilty, returned a death penalty two hours after given in the case.

Hildreth sobbed for mercy and told the court he was sorry as he changed his plea from not guilty to guilty when the indictment charges were read. The state vigorously countered with a demand for the death sentence.

Hildreth's daughter, Mrs. Carl Hildreth, gave a vivid account of the slaying.

"I heard those horrible screams," she said, "and I jumped up and ran where my mother lived (next door). I met my father coming out of the back door. She's in there—she needs you," he said.

Mrs. Coburn said she found her mother lying on the floor—the metal staff of an ice pick lodged in her hip. She tried to remove the pick, Mrs. Coburn testified, but said "I couldn't even budge it."

Twenty-one wounds, two of which penetrated the woman's heart, were found on the body, Mrs. Coburn testified, and Dr. T. E. Hoover, testified.

The recent A. F. of L. convention urged a 30-hour week. The administration frowns on that. Observers wondered whether Green had temporarily put the idea in the background pending convening of congress in January.

"Boost Production" slogan falls more in line with recent thinking of high officials. There have been signs that NRA may favor scrapping some limitations on production. Also, the AAA is modifying its curb on the output of farm goods.

Though noting that "small" seasonal gains in employment appeared in September and carried into the first part of October, Green said:

"For the first time since the president's re-employment program started in July, 1933, unemployment has exceeded last year's level. The total number at work in the United States at 30,746,000 in September, 1933; by September, 1934, it had declined to 30,387,000.

"During these 12 months the normal increase in population has added close to 450,000 to the army of job seekers for whom industry provides no work. Thus the number without work in industry has risen from 10,108,000 in September, 1933, to 10,951,000 in September, 1934."

ject was to hold the Jews responsible for the situation in Russia. Count Chayla testified that the Russian revolution which ended with Soviet domination was largely due to these "protocols."

Theodore Fischer, leader of the Swiss Nazi and attorney for the defense, interrupted the proceedings repeatedly as efforts were made to prove that the protocols were authentic or spurious. He had been borne out by history since many great events, including revolutions and wars, have occurred as predicted in the protocols.

Influenced the Czar.

Count Chayla said he believed the publication of the "protocols" in Russia influenced the Czar Nicholas to pursue a reactionary policy especially directed against the Jews.

"The publication," he said, "prevented the adoption of a Russian constitution and contributed to the great catastrophe in the war which culminated in the bolshevik revolution."

Count Chayla testified that he had been handed the protocols written in poor French by the Russian writer, Nilius, who was apparently his receiver of the document from General Rachowsky. Nilius, he said, seemed to entertain doubts as to the authenticity but told Chayla: "What if this Christ said risible words, anarchy, why can't truth emerge from forgery?"

Chayla, a husky Frenchman who has spent much time in Russia, said Nilius appeared imbued with the spirit of anti-Semitism.

Denied Secret Action.

Chaim Weizmann, the former president of the Jewish agency for Palestine, was serene under bombardment of queries from both sides of the aisle and the lawyer for the plaintiffs. He solemnly denied that the famous Zionist congress at Basel in 1897 took any secret action calculated to create a Jewish world hegemony as outlined in the protocols. He said the sole aim was the creation of a Jewish home in Palestine.

Explaining world Jewry and the Zionist movement, Weizmann said that Jewry was far from being homogeneous and united. He said many Jews oppose Zionism, deeming that it might interfere with the rights of other peoples and that the Jews were divided just like other peoples.

Weizmann said he had only read extracts of the "protocols," and he received them from a Jewish source. He said that English officers who explained that they had been distributed in small sheets throughout the armies of the Czar.

There is only one living defendant in the criminal libel suit—Dr. A. Zander, editor of the Swiss Nazi organ, Elseren Heisen (Iron Broom). Two other former defendants, both of whom have died since the suit was instituted.

The plaintiffs, who included Dr. J. Dreyfus-Brodsky, president of the Swiss Federation of Jewish communities, ask compensation of the documents and fines for publications printing them.

Jewish leaders from throughout Europe have gathered for the trial and seats were almost impossible to obtain.

The Swiss Nazi party plagiarized a French essay written in the time of Napoleon to rule the world. The "Dialogue in Hades Between Cagliostro and Montesquieu," the Jewish leaders claim, is the basis of the documents, known as the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion."

STOCK EXCHANGE OPERATED IN RED LAST 12 MONTHS

BIGGEST SECURITIES MART IN WORLD LOST $287,986.74 IN 1933

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange, where millions are made and lost, operated "in the red" last year.

The biggest securities mart in an unprecedented and voluntary publication of its year-end balance sheet, disclosed last night it lost $287,986.74 in 1933. The exchange's figures, published at its own request, yesterday by the Securities Exchange Commission, showed it spent $4,242,574.31 last year and took in only $3,954,587.57.

The statement was in line with a policy giving investors fuller information. The exchange reserved the right to request that future statements to the secretary be held confidential.

A consolidated report covering the stock exchange and its subsidiaries, showed assets of $43,846,054, down from $45,000,000 in 1932, including $2,111,738 cash and $1,262,537 in securities. The balance

Streamline Train Not Only Faster But Much Cheaper

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Sparking in dollars and hours, the Union Pacific says its streamlined M-1001 was 14 hours and $220 better than a steam propelled train on its 3,900 mile coast-to-coast run.

Estimating the advantages in economy of operation of the M-1001's Diesel engines over a coal burning locomotive, Union Pacific officials estimated the $50 oil bill of the M-1001 with an estimated $300 coal bill for a steam train over the same route.

It would require about 24 tons of coal—costing between $5 and $5.50 a ton—to pull a six-car train from Los Angeles to New York, the officials estimated.

The new streamlined train, vastly lighter and generating electric driving power from oil burning engines, consumed about one gallon of oil for every 1.6 miles west of Chicago and somewhat less fuel per mile over the water level route from Chicago to New York.

sheet showed a deficit of $199,121 at the year end, with total expenditures of $7,633,916.

Mildred Eagles Won Over Frost Eleven

MILDRED, Texas, Oct. 27. (Sp.)—The Mildred high school Eagles won a hard-fought football game against Frost Friday night, 11-0. Mildred led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter. The game was scoreless until the last period of play when Frost fumbled on their 5-yard line in an attempt to punt on fourth down. Firman, Eagle fullback, ran off a tackle for the only score of the game. The Eagles showed the best in running department, both making long drives only to be stopped when they neared the goal. Many passes were attempted, but failed against a strong pass defense.

In the first quarter Mildred made the first consistent drive in nine running plays and a pass to carry the ball from the 50 to the 12-yard line where the ball was lost on downs. In the second quarter Frost returned the ball from their own 12 to the Mildred 31-yard line where the Eagles formed an impenetrable wall. A long pass from Kent to Williams moved the ball back in the Frost territory.

Frost made their only threats to score in the third quarter, pushing their way to the Eagle 7-yard line; then as a result of a bad kick from Mildred, in the following series of downs, attempted passes on the Eagle 13-yard line. Williams, Eagle halfback, intercepted the third pass for a nice return. Harris then logged the ball for a 15-yard gain as the quarter ended.

The Eagles entered the fourth period with new life and a determination to score. An intercepted pass by Kent and a 62-yard punt by the same Eagle put the ball in Frost territory early in the quarter. Frost, in an attempt to kick out, fumbled the ball to give Mildred its possession on the 8-yard line. Perfect teamwork and blocking carried the oval over in a matter of minutes. Mildred clearly outplayed the Frost team for the remainder of the game, long gains being made by Harris and Williams, Eagle halfbacks.

Wylie, Eagle tackle, showed himself capable of playing his position. Willie, center, showed his first game in the backfield this season, made several spectacular plays both on offense and defense. The Eagles were not at full strength, suffering the loss of Hagler and Comer who are out with injuries. Especially did the Eagles miss accurate passing of Hagler while Kent filled Hagler's spot as quarterback most efficiently.

The Eagles meet the Hubbard Jaguars next week. Coach Gilbreth has a strong aggregation and we are working it after the game. The Eagles can still boast of being undefeated and unopposed upon their home grid.

Negotiations were completed late Thursday whereby the 90th Aero Squadron, Fort Crockett, U. S. A. will meet the Trinity University freshmen team from Waco at the Lions Club, Saturday night, Nov. 10, according to an announcement Friday morning by Boyce Martin, chairman of the committee recently appointed by Jay Silversberg, president of the Lions club, to arrange a benefit football game here for charity.

Kerens Bobcats Won Over Wortham 6-0

KERENS, Texas, Oct. 29.—(Sp.)—Kerens Bobcats opened a brilliant passing attack in the fourth period Friday afternoon at Wortham and tucked away a neat ball game over the Bulldogs 6-0.

Kerens threatened in the first period after an 80-yard drive, but the offense bogged down when near the Bulldog goal.

Four sensational passes were completed in the fourth quarter, which placed the ball on the Wortham 10-yard stripe and two line thrusts made the remaining distance. The extra point was missed.

Kerens lineup included: Henderson and Kirby ends; Mayo and Newsome tackle; Goforth and Ivey guards; Garrett, center; Ford and Kerley halves; Crowley, fullback; Floyd, Quarterback. Substitutes were Nettles, Crawford, Speed, Gaines and Tramel.

Three Hundred A. P. Stores Closed Down

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29.—(AP)—The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company closed its 300 Cleveland stores today, more than 2,200 persons.

"Labor trouble" was the explanation. George L. Hartford, chairman of the company's board, left town with the observation that he believed the company's business in Cuyahoga (Cleveland) county was "wrecked."

Seven local unions have called upon the grocery chain to accede to unionization. Picketing of A. and P. warehouses began last Thursday. This prevented delivery of goods, the company said.

Automatically ordered to close their doors or delivery by merchandise to A. and P. stores followed.

A statewide strike of butchers employed by the A. and P. may be sought, an official of the United Brotherhood of Carriers and Drivers at Cincinnati.

The union's convention occurs within a week at Columbus. Caught in the backwash of the wrangle between the A. and P. and the union, the workers of the company petitioned Mayor Harry L. Davis last night to close the offices to return them to work.

The managers and clerks belong to no unions. The workers involved are butchers, meat cutters, grocery clerks, and clerks.

Their number has not been estimated.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Strikes were called today among meat cutters in 47 Milwaukee chain stores after the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. had closed 26 of its meat departments.

In action, the A. and P. stores in nine stores of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. were affected by the order given by the American Federation of Labor Unions.

Officials of both companies denied the strike was having any effect this morning, but J. H. Schilling, secretary of the Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Union, said the workers had gone out in all of the A. and P. meat departments not already closed and also in the Kroger stores.

The union spokesman said 100 meat cutters affected by the A. and P. strike order and 60 by the Kroger order.

A contract turned down by the two chain store organizations Friday called for union recognition, collective bargaining and a wage scale of $35 a week for managers, $27.50 a week minimum for butchers and a sliding scale for apprentices.

production to consumption needs, each industry would then be assured that all other industries would increase their production, and the wealth produced by putting labor to work would create income to buy the product of all.

The recent A. F. of L. convention urged a 30-hour week. The administration frowns on that. Observers wondered whether Green had temporarily put the idea in the background pending convening of congress in January.

The "Boost Production" slogan falls more in line with recent thinking of high officials. There have been signs that NRA may favor scrapping some limitations on production. Also, the AAA is modifying its curb on the output of farm goods.

Though noting that "small" seasonal gains in employment appeared in September and carried into the first part of October, Green said:

"For the first time since the president's re-employment program started in July, 1933, unemployment has exceeded last year's level. The total number at work in the United States at 30,746,000 in September, 1933; by September, 1934, it had declined to 30,387,000.

"During these 12 months the normal increase in population has added close to 450,000 to the army of job seekers for whom industry provides no work. Thus the number without work in industry has risen from 10,108,000 in September, 1933, to 10,951,000 in September, 1934."

PERSONALLY PLEDGE COOPERATION WITH RECOVERY CAMPAIGN

TELL PRESIDENT PREPARED AND ANXIOUS TO LEND
MONEY TO BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (P)—A pledge of full cooperation in the recovery campaign was made personally to President Roosevelt today by the officers of the American Bankers' Association.

Rudolph S. Hecht, new president of the association, told the president the bankers were prepared and anxious to lend money to business.

"The banks want to lend," said Hecht.

"We are going through with the program of co-operation. Of course the banks can't lend if business does not borrow but the bankers are making it known that they are willing to do their part."

He called attention that notices have been sent to clearing houses by Francis M. Law, the retiring president, advertising the willingness of bankers to extend credit.

Hecht was accompanied to the White House by Law and Robert V. Fleming, vice president of the association, and Tom K. Smith, of St. Louis, chairman of the bankers' study committee, which will draft legislative proposals.

"We told the president that we were four ball players for the all American team he proposed of banking, business, industry, agriculture and capital," Hecht said. "He accepted our proffer."

Hecht said that Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, expressed the opinion of the "overwhelming majority if not the unanimous opinion of the bankers" in stating that they were anxious to co-operate with the government.

President Accuses Banker of Begging

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (P)—A banker borrowed a quarter from a reporter today and was accused by President Roosevelt of begging from the White House steps.

Francis M. Law, retiring president of the American Bankers' Association, found himself minus the change to pay a taxicab bill when he arrived at the White House for a call on the president.

Hecht was accompanied to the White House by Law and Robert V. Fleming, vice president of the bankers association, loaned him a quarter in the presence of the president and this was returned to the reporter.

Understanding Now Better Say Bankers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (P)—High officials of the American Bankers' Association, expressing confidence that their 50th convention, marked "better understanding" with the government, put their policy of co-operation into effect today.

Officers of the association planned to lunch with George N. Peek, head of the import-export bank, to discuss what private bankers can do to assist this government undertaking designed to increase trade.

Rudolph S. Hecht, New Orleans banker who was inducted yesterday as president of the association, disclosed plans for the luncheon.

Peek suggested in addressing the convention that closed yesterday that the association name a committee to co-operate with his agency. Before electing the committee, Hecht said, he wanted to lunch with Peek and discuss what he has in mind.

"We are sympathetic," Hecht said.

He was asked whether he believed the convention increased understanding between the Roosevelt administration and bankers. "We have made excellent progress," he said. "I sincerely think there is a better understanding."

CHEAPER PRICES—BETTER LIQUOR IS PROMISE TODAY BY DISTILLERS OF NATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (P)—Cheaper prices for better liquor were promised today by the nation's distillers.

Dr. James M. Moran, supervisor of the distillers' code authority, predicted that by the year's end liquor mellowed in the keg for a 12-month period would be available at about the same prices charged for month-old stuff last January.

His forecast was based on the fact that considerable new whiskey flowed into warehouses last January, and some of it is still there.

Since request the distillers have been trying to build up depleted stocks of aged whiskey in addition to meeting current demands. Information gathered by the alcohol control administration indicates they have increased the amount of spirits in warehouses to about 30,000,000 gallons, compared to 15,000,000 or 16,000,000 at the time of repeal.

Wholesale prices filed with the distillers' code authority show many reductions, some of them only slight, since repeal.

Typical cuts made since January in prices of large distributors were listed as: A popular brand of gin, cut from $24 to $17.30 per case for 24 plants; another brand of gin, from $12 to $11.60 per case of 24 plants; a whiskey blend, reduced from $33 to $29 per 12-plant case; a blended rye in the low price field, from $12 to $11.60 per case of plants.

The cost paid indicated that the "holiday rush" long rum row has passed into history.

PWA IS QUIETLY WORKING OVER PLANS FOR NEW PROJECTS

PRIVATE BUSINESS ACTIVITY
TO DETERMINE DEMANDS OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (P)—The PWA quietly is paying its way for another big project designed to create jobs in every corner of the nation.

The administration is certain, well informed persons said, to ask for more than $100 million perhaps. How much congress will provide is a question that can be answered only with a guess.

The exact amount to be asked has not been decided. The question of how much will be spent is linked, apparently, with future trends in private business activity.

President Roosevelt, though not mentioning PWA specifically, has said government spending and lending will taper off as soon as private initiative takes over the job.

His industrial recovery chief, Donald Riehlberg, said in New York yesterday that "clearly an emerging" issue is whether private enterprise shall re-employ "four or five million willing workers" or whether government must try to do it. He said he preferred to have private resources do it.

The PWA is preparing to lay before congress a list of operations which might be launched quickly if its efforts, once bringing with $3,700,000,000, are replenished.

A number of government agencies, accordingly, have been asked to speed up public works projects for which they have received funds already and to consider what future developments might stimulate employment.

BANKERS STUDYING
MUNICIPAL FINANCE
ANNUAL CONVENTION

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Staff Editor
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 27. (P)—Five hundred of the nation's leading investment bankers assembled at this mountain resort today for their 23rd annual convention to consider means of breaking the "log jam" impeding the flow of long-term capital to industry for the past two years.

The first problems taken up, however, were those surrounding municipal finance. A large committee which has been drafting a report on that subject since last May met in private session to consider a final draft.

Interest in this subject, which has been the mainstay of the investment banking business during the stagnation of corporate financing, was intense. It is expected that the convention will urge greater co-ordination between state and local governments in maintaining municipal credit.

LOCAL ATTORNEY IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER LODGE CELEBRATION

TWENTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY EUREKA MASONS FRIDAY

Observance of the 22nd anniversary of the founding of the Eureka Masonic lodge was held at Eureka Friday night. A banquet was served and the affair attended by a number of Masons from Corsicana, Kears, Barry, Blooming Grove, Winkler, Wortham, Tyler, Buffalo, Moran and one from an Oklahoma lodge.

J. S. Callicutt was the principal speaker of the evening and he reviewed at length the history of the Eureka lodge along with the history of the early Masonic lodges of Navarro county which included Winkler, Cryer Creek, Dresden, Chatfield, Dawson (The Old Spring Hill lodge), Kears, Blooming Grove, Frost and others.

Dawson Lodge Oldest
In his review of the history of Masonry in Navarro county Mr. Callicutt revealed that Dawson lodge was the oldest in Navarro county having been organized 79 years, Corsicana is next and is 75 years old, while Kears is third and is 75 years old. Eureka is the youngest lodge in the county.

Judge Callicutt also gave a comprehensive review of Masonry from its early history down to the present.

Mr. Callicutt said that the Eureka lodge was granted a dispensation to operate on May 12, 1912, by Sam P. Cochran grand master of the grand jurisdiction of Texas. A charter was granted by the Grand Lodge on December 5, 1912, and there were 22 charter members. Of this number three, J. A. Bonner, A. B. Thomas and Lee Bonner were present Friday night. At the organization of the lodge, E. A. "Thompson" district deputy grand master, served as master; H. Iversen as senior warden; J. C. Pillens as junior warden and J. Y. Stewart as tyler. J. Y. Stewart was present Friday night.

First officers of the lodge were J. A. Bonner, master; J. J. Hamilton, senior warden; Ben F. Wilson, junior warden and Charles Raah, secretary.

Masonic Pioneers
In discussing Masonry in the early days in Navarro county, Judge Callicutt said that among the outstanding pioneers were Captain Bob Johnson, Dave Johnson, Robert S. Davidson, Captain Pouty, Dr. Grayson, E. J. Grant, W. N. Upton and numerous others. These men were members of the Masonic order before the civil war and were instrumental in the spread of Masonry in Navarro county after the war.

P. H. Bonner, master of the lodge, conducted the opening ceremonies and turned the chair over to J. A. Bonner, district deputy, who presided during the remainder of the ceremonies. J. A. Bonner was first master of the lodge.

A tribute to the pioneers of Masonry in Navarro county and particularly to those of the Eureka lodge was paid by G. H. Brown, county superintendent.

Short talks were made by a number of others.

OIL LEGISLATION IS DELAYED UNTIL RELIEF IS GRANTED

EX-GOVERNOR IS AMUSED
AT SITUATION AFTER
FEDERAL DRIVE

AUSTIN, Oct. 27. (P)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson indicated today she was awaiting developments before determining whether to submit oil legislation to the special session of the legislature.

In an interview it was stated the governor was cognizant of a "strong movement" to create a new commission which would supervise the oil and gas industries, but submission of any new subjects would depend on progress of legislation on the specific matters for which the session was called.

At the same time, Governor Ferguson reiterated an opinion that the remainder of the relief bonds authorized by constitutional amendment would be issued by the legislature.

A total of $20,000,000 was originally authorized by the people. Of this sum the legislature has appropriated $10,000,000. Six more would be necessary to complete the authorized amount, although the governor had asked for the whole available amount of $30,000,000.

Discussing possible oil legislation, former Governor James E. Ferguson, usband and advisor of the governor, said "it looks like the oil situation has simmered down."

"I feel some amusement at the position of the railroad commission," he continued. "Last spring it was claiming it could handle the situation without assistance of the federal government, and now they are running around begging the federal men to help."

"What the governor said last May has come true. At that time she told Mr. Ickes that the railroad commission would break down and ask for federal aid for them to call on the federal government. They hooted at the idea then."

Jimmie Allred (Attorney General) and J. W. Allred, democratic nominee for governor, said they didn't want any federal help.

"Whether the governor submits oil legislation depends on the progress of other bills," Ferguson explained there had been no hurry about relief legislation, and the administration had been waiting for the legislative situation to be clarified.

"As long as there is one hungry child in the state," he said, "it should be fed. The Texas county condition can be found all over the state. It is bad economy to withhold the rest of the bond money."

He referred to the recent demonstrations by some Travis county persons before the legislature. After being cut off the county relief rolls, they maintained a hunger strike of about 14 hours in the Capitol.

"The people who voted the bonds expected the money to be used," Governor Ferguson interjected. "I certainly think the rest of the bonds should be issued."

With reference to plans of delegations from various counties for state appropriations with which to have local celebrations in connection with the Texas Centennial, the governor expressed the opinion some claims were meritorious and some were not.

"There are a lot of historical places in Texas," he said, "and money for some of them would be all right."

She said the Brazos river bill recently passed by the legislature had not come down to her as yet. There is little question about her signing it. The project was one of the subjects on her call to the legislature.

AAA OFFICIALS EXPECTED TO SEEK ONLY HALF REDUCTION IN CORN FOR APPROACHING SEASON

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
(Copyright 1934 by the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (P)—The AAA is expected to seek only half as large a cut in next year's corn acreage as it did this year.

The farm administration arranged today to submit next year's contract to farmers within two weeks. The compact, it was learned, will require signers to cut corn plantings 10 to 15 per cent below the 1932-33 base acreage of 105,500,000. This compares with the 20-30 per cent cut asked this year.

The cut in hogs is expected to be between 5 and 10 per cent, compared to this year's 20 to 25. Most attention is paid to corn curtailment. Hog numbers are already low, and officials believe they can be governed by feed control.

Should an overwhelming majority of farmers sign next year's corn contracts, and some officials predict they will, expectations are that acreage will be reduced to between 90,000,000 and 94,000,000.

Production, assuming an average of about 25 bushels an acre, would be between 2,250,000,000 and 2,350,000,000 bushels, compared with the average of 2,600,000,000.

Either of these figures would be less than the average yearly consumption of 2,498,000,000 bushels but officials say there will be about 15,000,000 fewer hogs and 10,000,000 fewer cattle at the beginning of next year, thus requiring less corn. They also declare production by farmers who do not sign contracts will probably be stimulated by higher prices for corn and hogs next summer.

Roy Peebles Hurt In Auto Accident

Roy Peebles, Texas Power and Light Company sales manager is in the Navarro Clinic suffering from injuries received about 12 o'clock Friday night near Ward edge, west of Corsicana, when his car flipped in an accident with Mrs. Ben McKie's car. Both autos were reported to have been returning to Corsicana from the Waco-Corsicana football game. Mr. Peebles received several broken or fractured ribs, and bruises about the head and body, but is not thought to be seriously injured.

Occupants of the other automobile were not injured.

The farm administration arranged today to submit next year's contract to farmers within two weeks. The compact, it was learned, will require signers to cut corn plantings 10 to 15 per cent below the 1932-33 base acreage of 105,500,000. This compares with the 20-30 per cent cut asked this year.

The cut in hogs is expected to be between 5 and 10 per cent, compared to this year's 20 to 25. Most attention is paid to corn curtailment. Hog numbers are already low, and officials believe they can be governed by feed control.

Should an overwhelming majority of farmers sign next year's corn contracts, and some officials predict they will, expectations are that acreage will be reduced to between 90,000,000 and 94,000,000.

Production, assuming an average of about 25 bushels an acre, would be between 2,250,000,000 and 2,350,000,000 bushels, compared with the average of 2,600,000,000.

Either of these figures would be less than the average yearly consumption of 2,498,000,000 bushels but officials say there will be about 15,000,000 fewer hogs and 10,000,000 fewer cattle at the beginning of next year, thus requiring less corn. They also declare production by farmers who do not sign contracts will probably be stimulated by higher prices for corn and hogs next summer.

POPE PIUS TODAY DELIVERED SPECIAL BENEDICTION TO COMMISSION

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 26. (P)—Pope Pius today delivered a special benediction to the Catholic priests and laymen commission which is preparing a Catholic history of Texas in connection with the 1936 celebration of the Centenary of Texas independence.

He gave the benediction to Bishop Christopher E. Byrne of Galveston with authority for him to transmit it when he returns to Texas.

Expressing keen interest in all the affairs of the huge state, the Pope also thanked Bishop Byrne and the other bishops and priests of all Texas for "your fealty in caring for the religious needs of the hundreds of thousands of Mexicans" and Bishop Byrne reported had a sort of spiritual refuge in Texas as a result of the church state wrangle in their own country.

Following his private audience with the Pope at which he delivered the pontiff his quinquennial report of his diocese, Bishop Byrne said: "The Holy Father also showed deep interest in the recovery throughout the United States and was gratified when I was able to report that Texas at least seemed to be coming out of the slump."

The bishop introduced to the Pope the Rev. Father Augustine O'Connell of St. Mary's Cathedral, Galveston, and the Rev. Father Andrew Deslatte of Houston, Tex., who is at present studying in the American College of Rome.

After a leisurely trip through the state, the bishop returned to the Vatican. He was accompanied by Mr. Peebles, Texas Power and Light Company sales manager is in the Navarro Clinic suffering from injuries received about 12 o'clock Friday night near Ward edge, west of Corsicana, when his car flipped in an accident with Mrs. Ben McKie's car. Both autos were reported to have been returning to Corsicana from the Waco-Corsicana football game. Mr. Peebles received several broken or fractured ribs, and bruises about the head and body, but is not thought to be seriously injured.

Occupants of the other automobile were not injured.

Switzerland, France, England, and Ireland, Bishop Byrne will return to the United States Nov. 8.

Malakoff Defeated Purdon Friday 13-0

Her mother felt that family physicians and child specialists, and the hospitals must be right. A simple test that proves they are.

If anyone in your family is occasionally sluggish or constipated; especially any child, you should know this medical truth:

You cannot get safe relief with any medicine if you cannot regulate the dose. And to regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative.

With a liquid laxative, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition.

Why Doctors Use Liquid Laxatives
A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of natural laxative elements like senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves, not make matters worse.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drugstore. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better than you have in a long time.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the natural, comfortable action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

RED LIGHT CHEATERS

After duly lambasting the drunken driver, who has no more right on the highway than a burglar in the house or a kidnaper on the schoolground, it is time to devote serious attention to the "light crasher." He is a worse road hazard than the "drunk," traffic experts say. Squeezing through sickly at crossings as the light turns against him, he causes four times as many accidents as the fellow whose brain is numbed by alcohol.

Motorists must be made to realize that it isn't smart to cheat the red light at a busy crossing. It's unfair and unsportsmanlike. It may be criminal. Shooting over the line one second after the light has turned, the cheater may kill some law-abiding motorist who has started to cross on the green light.

What is needed is as much respect for a red light on land as at sea.

DUCK SEASON OPENS

With the opening of the duck season Friday lovers of wild life are pointing out the possibility of an early extinction of water fowl unless the wholesale killing is stopped.

Under the caption of "Hunter Hunted," a recent issue of the Dallas News carried the following editorial in connection with a cartoon urging sportsmen not to kill ducks this year:

"Excessive depletion in the numbers of wild duck has brought those interested in the preservation of wild life to the rescue this year of teal, mallard and canvasback. The Federal Biological Survey finds that waterfowl population reduced to the lowest figures in history and Federal game laws have been accordingly tightened. State game regulations have been automatically adjusted to them with the result that in Texas the duck season, opening Friday, will be restricted to thirty days, though extended over ten weeks, three days in each being allotted to the hunters."

"Sportsmen are urged this year not to take advantage even of this limited opportunity but to forego duck hunting and permit the waterfowl to breed and multiply. This is in the public's interest, and, of course, that of wild life. The natural conclusion would be that the admonition will be readily heeded. The fact is that it will not."

"Not all game hunters are sportsmen; perhaps far too few of them are. If they were, game laws would be unnecessary; game education would be sufficient. For years the laws have been violated; game is killed out of season; bag limits are exceeded. Few hunting parties fail to breach limits which may be technically observed. An individual hunter, for example, may exceed the bag limit, though the entire party is kept within it. For most hunters there is no tomorrow, only today. For the ducks there will be no tomorrow, unless the men in the blinds forego the joy of the kill."

Everything is foretold by the stars, astrologers say. But the astronomers say there are 5,000,000,000 stars, and it's hard to keep track of all they tell.

TRUE GREATNESS.
He longed for greatness. Far away
He thought success must lie.
A poor man asked for help today.
He blindly passed him by.

So bent was he on winning fame
Before his journey's end,
He never saw the chance that came
To pause and be a friend.

He fancied greatness must be gained
By one tremendous deed,
And he must miss it who remained
To serve a lesser need.

He planned to prove, if he should live,
His love for one and all.
But having no large sum to give
He failed to give the small.

He yearned for greatness, but too late
He found, grown old and gray,
Who would be counted truly great
Must throw no chance away.

"PRETTY BOY'S" MACHINE GUNS

It was the same, familiar story when federal agents finally ran down "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the current "Public Enemy No. 1" in a cornfield near East Liverpool, Ohio. The charming lad had been totting two machine guns, besides his smaller automatics.

Floyd had at least a dozen murders to his credit, most of them accomplished by means of those same, or similar, weapons. They are the customary armament used in this domestic war waged by our criminals against decent society.

And so the same old question arises: "Who sold those machine guns to this murderer, and how, and why?"

Is it too much to hope that the United States government, which has done such admirable work in decimating the ranks of these public enemies, will adopt the obvious procedure, when Congress assembles, of enacting a federal law strictly controlling the manufacture and sale of such private armament?

LIFE WRITES A STORY.

That Louisville kidnapping is such a case as you would expect to read in a novel. The criminal seems to be a highly intelligent maniac with a literary gift. And the victim, surely, is inspired fiction stuff, drawn by life itself.

Alice Speed Stoll is a beautiful and wealthy aristocrat, member of an old family in a city that particularly prizes ancestry and social position. Her abduction alone would have made a big story. But there was a bigger factor, which a dramatist or moralist might call fate.

"Behold, what I feared has come upon me," wrote the Psalmist.

Alice Speed's mother, fearing kidnappers, shielded her from her birth. There was eternal vigilance in the fortress-like home of her grandfather, where she lived when small. She played in a garden surrounded by a high spiked fence, constantly watched by a nurse, and invisible from the street. When she went to school though it was only across a back alley, she was escorted by the family chauffeur. When they moved to a place distant from school, Mrs. Speed got a new schoolhouse built close by. The child was never allowed to go anywhere unless attended by a servant or a member of the family.

When she grew up, and had a car of her own, she had to be at home by 4 o'clock every afternoon. Her friends were few in number. She went hardly anywhere. People had to come to her. She was shielded even after her marriage. She practiced shooting for self-defense. There were bright beacon lights on the grounds around her home. She had a Great Dane always roaming the yard, to defend her. She had three alert servants.

Then she was kidnapped. The butler and yard man were both away and the dog was sick. The kidnapper had not aimed at her; he wanted her father-in-law.

It "just happened." Or was it fate?

The best "jobless insurance" is to provide jobs.

VICTORY!

CARS DOWN, HOMES UP

An instructive price comparison is made by Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, American banker-economist.

In 1909 the average cost of an automobile was $1,662. Now it is $678.

In 1909 the average cost of a one-family house was $2,172. Now it is $4,020.

During this quarter-century automobiles, while falling in price, have steadily risen in quality. There has been no corresponding improvement in residence construction, though costs have nearly doubled.

Undoubtedly homes cost too much. This fact impedes every effort, public or private, made to get the building industry going.

Automobiles have become cheap in spite of doubling wages and advancing cost of materials. Machinery, efficiency, and mass production have made it possible.

How can houses be cheapened? It is hard to apply mass production to houses, but methods might be more efficient than they are. Home-financing has been made cheaper, and could well go farther in that direction. Wages in most places are probably too high for the workmen's own good. They could make more in a year by taking less money per day, encouraging building and getting steadier work.

WORK OR WAR

One of the most remarkable things about war is that, when it approaches, it is welcomed by so many people in spite of its hardships and horrors. Why is this? It appeals particularly to the idle, suggests Heywood Braun, because it offers relief from boredom; and it also offers, strangely enough, economic security. The latter consideration has most point for mankind today.

"When the drums begin to roll, they speak not so much of high adventure," says Braun, "as of shoes and shirts, corned beef and overcoats. The laborer is worthy of his hire, and he cannot be docked or fired or laid off. He has enlisted for the duration." If he is sick or wounded, a powerful government will take care of him. If he dies, it will take care of his family.

If a big war breaks out in the near future, this may be the biggest factor in starting it. The greatest peril to peace may be the tens of millions of restless and helpless men who have no work. Statesmen with

THE CLOSING FAIR

There are not many more days in which to visit the Century of Progress at Chicago. Hardly any middle-aged person who saw the great World's fair at Chicago in 1893 has willingly foregone at least a glimpse of this one. Many of these people have been disappointed with the appearance of this fair from the outside, comparing it with the lovely classic whiteness of the former buildings set so beautifully against green lawn and blue sky and water. But very few spectators who have taken any time and trouble to view exhibits have been disappointed with the range and interest of what they found to see inside the buildings.

Gratifying, too, is the fact that 80 per cent of the fair's obligations have already been paid in full, with the prospect of complete payment before long. The management has set aside $1,000,000 to demolish and remove the buildings and leave Grant Park as it was when they first took hold, according to agreement. They hope that efficiency and salvage may hold the necessary disbursement for this purpose down to less than half a million. Seldom has any such project ended so nearly in the black. Once more Chicago justifies her famous motto: "I Will."

Planes can fly from London to Australia, 13,000 miles, in four or five days, if they have enough gas and no other load, but it will probably be some time before we see continents blowing each other up with air bombs.

We may be a materialistic people, as the world believes; but our public rises most quickly to a moral question.

Now racketeers are trying to bribe college football stars. Next thing, they'll be kidnapped just before the game.

The Depression's probably like other evils. It just naturally wears out if you keep hammering away at it.

A new word is needed for "kidnaping." They're nabbing grown-ups.

ambitious schemes of conquest, or seeking to cover up their own political failures, would find the unemployed hordes ready tools for their purpose.

If another great war is to be avoided, the idle must have work.

FIRESTONE STORES ENLARGE QUARTERS CARE FOR BUSINESS

OFFICIALS ENCOURAGED OVER PROSPECTS FOR FALL INCREASES

Due to the growth of their local store, and a desire to offer customers in and around Corsicana a higher type of service, the Corsicana Firestone Store, corner West Fourth avenue and North Main street, will undergo an extensive alteration program, to provide more storage space for tires, batteries and other accessories handled. This statement was made today by H. E. Powell of Dallas, assistant district manager, who was in the city conferring with owners of the building, and local Firestone officials.

Mr. Powell said his company is very optimistic over the outlook for business in the late fall season, and feel that their sales will be exceptionally good until the first of 1935, when such businesses experience a seasonal decline in sales beginning in September.

The building will not be enlarged, but the storage space will be made larger, which will enable the store to carry a complete line of items as any other Firestone store, and the largest of its type in the vicinity of Corsicana. The original bid was let to J. B. Metcalf and Son, general contractors for $800, but several changes have been made in the plans, and the cost will vary slightly from the original figure. Mr. Powell said work will begin November 1 and local labor will be used on the job, which it is thought will be finished within two weeks. Plans for the alterations were drawn up by Firestone's architects in Akron, Ohio.

John F. Ziegler is manager of the local Firestone store.

Four Huge Wrestlers Scheduled to Appear Local Arena Monday

Marvin Westenberg, 230-pounder from Los Angeles, regarded as the strongest man of the wrestling fraternity, will be one of the principals in the weekly grappling show Monday evening at the Mineral Plunge arena when he meets Laverne Baxter, 220 pound French-Canadian.

Westenberg often breaks difficult holds applied to him by opponents by the main strength of his arms. He is considered one of the most powerful men in the country.

Baxter is a former lumberjack from the Northwest, and is a rough, tough bonder. Bobby Stewart, 240, a Boston strong boy, opposes Bob Blair Pantherville, Texas, a former range rider. This is also expected to prove an interesting tussle.

FIRST METHODIST STARTS LAST WEEK CONFERENCE YEAR

A meeting of the Board of Stewards on Monday night, Boy Scouts on Tuesday night, and church night services Wednesday night will be principal activities of the First Methodist church for the week. At the meeting Monday night plans will be made to complete the financial program for the conference year which closes with next Sunday services. A large crowd for the last church night services of the year for Wednesday night has been asked for by the Stewards.

The attendance at both church services Sunday was excellent. At the morning hour Dr. Caspar S. Wight, presiding elder of the Corsicana district preached his farewell sermon and twelve united with the church; at the night hour the pastor preached from the subject: "Flood-Lights and Search Lights," special music for the day consisted of special anthems by the choir at both hours, and a solo at the morning hour by Mrs. Isabelle Melton.

Sunday school attendance was as follows: Sunday 425, last Sunday 446, last year 410, forty-six men, Judge C. W. Taylor, pastor, teach the Brotherhood class, ten attendance Bibles were presented in this class. In the adult department Rev. P. Martin Baker, pastor of the Third Avenue Presbyterian church, was the speaker with special music from the same church by Roy Leeds and Robert Layton. Mrs. A. W. Rogers was the speaker in the Junior Young People's department, Annie Mary Pierce was the leader in the League services. Missionary day was observed throughout the Sunday school with offering going to Hav. Sam Hillburn and family in Japan.

Stewards met in the Educational building in the afternoon and started the drive on pledges for the church budget for the new year. This work was also started in the Sunday school.

FLYERS

ed island of Molokai loomed through the clouds. The plane arrived on Honolulu 24 hours and 50 minutes after leaving Fiji and landed 15 minutes later, making the total time 25 hours and five minutes. The plane was piloted by Captain Kingsford-Smith and three others, including Co-Pilot C. T. P. Uim, Navigator Harry W. Lyon and Radio Operator James Warner. A tri-motored rebuilt motor plane originally designed for an Arctic expedition, to Australia in three principal laps—from Oakland to Wheeler Field, from the Barking Sands on Kauai Island to Suva, and from Naeasli Beach to Brisbane.

It was agreed at that time that the Hawaii-Fiji section of the flight was the most hazardous, due to utter lack of weather reports, and the fact that the plane was flying in the equatorial zone, with which equatorial storms form. As a matter of fact the big monsoon was near disaster at one stage of that flight in a tropical storm between Kingsford-Smith, stating each of his engines were at maximum, pulled above it into the light of a full moon.

Again this morning, in the smaller plane, a storm was encountered in the vicinity of the equator and even at 15,000 feet altitude it gave trouble before it and the plane parted company.

From there into Honolulu it was clear sailing. Sir Charles said he was "lured," Sir Charles said he was "lured" from the plane, adding that the flight was "smooth sailing" most of the way. Kingsford-Smith said he probably would have been under present plans for Los Angeles.

The ship had enough gasoline for approximately two and a half hours flying when the motor was out here.

Storm Ends Monotony. HONOLULU, Oct. 29.—(P)—Successfully battling through a storm the Lady Southern Cross failed to clear at 15,000 feet, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith said today in his 7,365-mile flight from Australia to California.

Almost without incident, Sir Charles and his crew, G. Taylor, had negotiated two-thirds of this, the second leg of the flight, 3,197 miles from Suva to Honolulu, when a storm confronted them. For an hour the plane battled with the elements, then came a lull and the clear at 5:30 a. m. (E. S. T.) to see the moon just showing over the eastern horizon.

His message of 15 minutes before, however, told of terrific relief from the "storm" he had expressed earlier in the flight.

From his plane on which he was perched atop a 20-gallon can of gasoline, a reserve supply, Sir Charles described the plane's "cheerio" over the air waves. His messages described the plane's "hedge hopping" with a storm, encountered a short time after leaving Suva. Later he told of passing under the Phoenix Islands and still later he informed the Pan-Hawaii Island he would not have to stop there to obtain an emergency fuel supply.

Should no forward incident happen, Sir Charles and his navigator, Captain P. G. Taylor, were expected to arrive here about 12:30 p. m. today. He had estimated on leaving Suva the flight would require 25 hours, but the first two-thirds of the flight was somewhat slower than he had anticipated. With the lessened weight of fuel, the plane's speed would be increased.

The noted Australian aviator arrived at Suva Oct. 20, after a flight of 1,760 miles, but was unable to start for Honolulu until yesterday. Heavy rains first delayed the flight, at one time submerging the airfield, and later he was held by bad weather.

DIAGONAL LINES FOR SLENDERNESS AND CHARM

by Anne Adams

Button trimming as you probably know, is one of the most important trends in the costume of the season. Where could it be used to better advantage than to set off the unusual lines of this smartly tailored afternoon dress? The raglan sleeves are as fashionable as they are comfortable and for those who prefer them, short sleeves are indicated in the pattern. Although the scarf-collared tie high beneath the chin certainly gives the frock a spirited air, the dress may be made with a simply rounded neckline. And notice the slenderizing effect of the diagonal motif which is repeated in the seam across the front of the skirt!

Pattern 2054 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 2 1/2 yards 34-inch fabric. Illustrations step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Optimism Pervades East Texas Fields

KILGORE, Texas, Oct. 29.—(P)—Optimism pervaded the atmosphere in the East Texas oil field today as men lauded progress of the new federal tender board in its efforts to stabilize production in the vast field.

The enthusiasm came after a special meeting of the board during which an appeal was made to the board's authority to issue permits for inter-state shipment of oil, failed to appear.

F. W. Fischer, representing the Southport Petroleum Company, requested a "forecast" tender to ship 75,000 barrels of oil products from field oil produced prior to April 6, 1933, date of the Texas Railroad Commission's first valid proration order in the field. The products would be manufactured over a period of 30 days, Fischer said.

Oil thus described could be moved within 2,500 barrels daily under an agreement reached between the Southport company and the Texas commission and Randolph Bryant, federal judge.

Board Member Protests. J. Howard Marshall, board member, protested against the issuance of "forecast" tenders on the grounds that illegally produced oil might possibly be commingled with legal oil before the total legal amount permitted could be manufactured. He said this action "would put the board in the position of giving a tender on illegal oil."

Fischer argued that it would be impracticable to secure a tender for each tank car of oil shipped because of the length of time required in obtaining tenders. He said the Texas commission could require individual tenders because refined products tenders obtained from the commission for intra-state shipments are approved by E. N. Stanley, head of the Texas railroad commission's East Texas division, and not a state committee. They must be supported by proper crude tenders.

An agreement was reached allowing the Southport company to apply for tenders on the basis of present products in storage, with the products named specifically.

Local B Teams In Conference Games During Week-end

Local class B teams will engage in conference, till this week-end.

The high-stepping I. O. O. F. Home Lynx invited Wortham to meet the Bulldogs Friday in a 20-B. State Home enters the game in the home here Friday in a 21-B engagement.

State Home has been handicapped by injuries and illness and probably will not be at their peak performance this week. Ennis has not shown much promise as a contender for first honor, but is reported improving and is expected to give the State Home aggregation much trouble.

The Kereens Bobcats won a 6-0 victory over Wortham in a conference game last week-end and the undefeated and unscathed on Cedar Bluffs are not expected to be crowded by the Bulldogs.

years" and a "revival of Sparta" are phrases the press has used to describe the Italy Mussolini intends to forge. Disarmament, which only a few months ago filled columns in the blackest newspapers, found no mention today.

Enthusiastic cheers greeted the premier when he appeared at the Venezia Palace, headquarters of the new inspectorate. A large crowd of men, women and boys gathered outside.

The inauguration consisted chiefly of an address in which Mussolini outlined the reasons that had prompted him to so drastically militarize Italy.

Ranking in importance next to the army, navy and air ministries, the department inaugurated today will be the fascist government's fourth major military dependency. It will be under Mussolini's personal supervision, as are the ministries.

His duties will be to put into force the cabinet decree of Sept. 18, which called for institution of compulsory military training extending over also half the lifespan of the average individual.

Police Department Has Busy Week-end

A varied assortment of calls were answered by the city police department during the week-end. One man entered the wrong house Saturday night while attempting to go home and when the hostilities had cleared, the man was in the P. and S. hospital for treatment for abrasions, bruises and other injuries sustained when the owner of an escapee wielded a pistol as a club with telling effect. No arrest was made in the case.

The Charm, corner West Sixth avenue and South Thirteenth street, was burglarized Saturday night, but the intruder apparently was frightened away and escaped with only a small amount of cash.

Four were arrested for alleged drunkenness, one for speeding and seven for gaming, according to the police blotter Monday.

ONE MAN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH POSTOFFICE ROBBERY

INVESTIGATION CONTINUED BY CITY AND FEDERAL OFFICERS

One man is in the city jail in connection with the burglarizing of the Corsicana post office and the A. and M. Sandwich shop several days ago and federal and city police are continuing their investigations.

A quantity of mail was opened at the post office and a small amount of cash, etc., was missed at the Sandwich shop. Entrance to both places was effected by hurrying a brick through a window. City and federal officers started Monday that fingerprints found at the scene of the burglaries tallied with those of the suspect in custody, a convict now on parole from the Texas penitentiary. The arrest was made by city police during the week-end and A. C. Caldwell, post office inspector of Dallas, arrived Monday morning to investigate the affair with the local police.

It is expected the suspect will be charged in federal court and taken to Dallas within the next day or two. No formal charges have been filed either by city or federal courts early Monday afternoon.

Officers did not reveal whether others were suspected.

RICE GETS BREATH WITH TEXAS A. AND I.; HOGS. FROGS FAVORED

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT (Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Three southwest conference games, with the Southern Methodist Mustangs' invasion of Texas Longhorns' pasture as the top tussle, comprise the first full conference schedule next Saturday.

Coach Jimmy Kitt's half-raising Rice Institute Owls, bringing more publicity to Southwest football than the keenest scheme any Chamber of Commerce ever concocted catch a well-deserved "breather" in their tilt with Texas A. and I. at Houston.

Fred Thomsen brings his University of Arkansas Porkers to the Cotton Station for a Texas A. and I. game. The Baylor Bruins meet Texas Christian at Fort Worth to round out the schedule.

Mustangs Have Edge. Opened up full ball after that 20-14 pasting they handed Fordham in New York last week, Coach Ray Morrison's Mustangs, ditching their famed aerial circus for a devastating game, will invade Austin favored to beat the Longhorns.

Robert Wilson, hantam half back who had a New York crowd gasping with his twisting runs, is suffering from a bad cold but is expected to play. Captain Ray Fuqua is out for the victory over Baylor.

A broken collar bone received in the Fordham game. Coach Jack Chevigny started frantically trying to pull his forces together for the coming game after a couple of jolting injuries.

Bon Hilliard, who saw little service in the 20-9 heart-breaker at Houston Saturday, may be able to start against the Mustangs.

BEAUTY CHATS

UNUSUAL TOUCHES

NECESSITY AND BEAUTY
Necessity being the mother of invention, Miss Forbes gives some beauty suggestions today to the girl who must make every penny count for style and looks.

I know a girl who had the wit to see that she was not beautiful and never could be, no matter how much she spent at beauty shops. Besides, she had not the money for these shops, and she felt that in her case, brains had to supply her with the means of doing things that richer women could pay to have done.

So she cropped her hair short, and rolled it into curls on either side of her head, which gave her an effective sort of hair dress. She learned the routine of manicure and face massage, and she went in for unusual effects, which, however, were never conspicuous—for the ugly woman should never be too conspicuous. For instance, she was the first to adopt red enameled fingernails, and also the first to drop the style and take up something newer. By diligent shopping, she found good clothes cheaply, and she adopted a sports style entirely for day wear—tweeds and novel sweaters, which she knitted herself—while her evening clothes were as boyish in cut as possible, and a wee bit exaggerated in detail. A backless, sleeveless bodice, and huge flaring collar of white faille silk.

Having no jewelry, she invented novelty jewelry and was the envy of her friends. She cut herself a heart-shaped piece of wood, for instance, and cut in it with a pen knife, the words "Touch Wood" and wore it on a silver chain around her wrist—I see these things are in the shops now as well as pretty and well-dressed. From an old scrap bag she brought out some charming paste, buttons, which she sewed on bands of silk to match an evening dress, and wore as bracelets and paste buckles holding velvet ribbon for another pair. With such touches she was always pretty and well-dressed.

Important B and C Tilted Carded This Section Next Week

A number of important class B and C football games are scheduled in this vicinity next week-end.

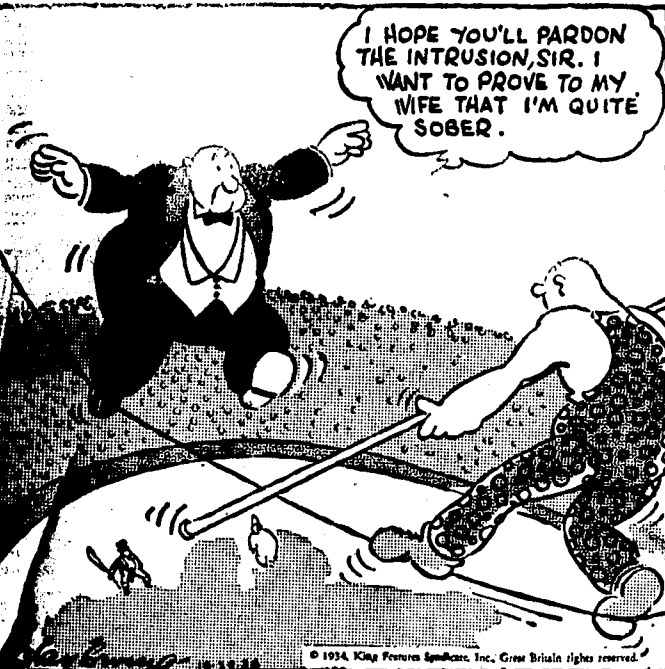

Streetman Invades Malakoff for a class C district match. The Dawson Bulldogs will invade Marquette for a 20-B district tussle. This will be the opening conference game for the West Navarino eleven.

Trinidad oppose Blooming Grove at Blooming Grove. Methodist Home of Waco is scheduled to meet the Groesbeck Goats at Groesbeck in a non-conference game Friday.

O. O. F. Home Lynx, defending champions of district 20-B, will oppose the Wortham Bulldogs in Wortham in a district battle. One of the feature attractions of the entire season will be the district 1-B combat in Teague with the Mexia Black Cats the visiting aggregation. Considerable rivalry has always existed between these two high school student bodies. After a bad start, the Black Cats have shown considerable improvement in their play while the Teague Lions have a heavy and strong attack.

State Home Lads of Corsicana, sorely hit by crippled and ill players, are scheduled to meet the Ennis Lions here Friday. Ennis' club was disappointing early in the season while the Lads have had more than their hard luck. The Lads won over Ennis last year and to Ennis county lads will be out for revenge.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

The Richland Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Leaman Wednesday to carry out "Achievement Day" and greet and meet those on the "Achievement Tour."

The visitors arrived at the noon hour and after each had replete lunch was served. There were about seventy-five present.

Mrs. Leaman's home was beautifully decorated for the occasion and her pantry display was fine. She gave a very interesting talk on her pantry, and the many ways it helped her as well as others.

After the pantry display, every one entered the antique room where many quaint and beautiful things were on exhibit.

There were visitors present from Powell, Oak Valley, Whites Chapel, Corsicana, Embouse, Mexia and Waco. Everyone enjoyed the occasion.

Freestone County Survey Routes New Connecting Highways

FAIRFIELD, Oct. 19.—(Spl.)—The Commissioners' court took action recently that will finally result in further growth and development of Freestone county when it voted to survey the state designated highway from Wortham to some point on highway No. 75, near Fairfield, and also voted to accept the highway department's proposition to designate a state highway from Fairfield to the county line leading to Athens via the Cuyaga oil field, proving Freestone county would furnish survey and right-of-way. These two projects will prove of inestimable value to the county at large. The highway to Wortham will give that city and the Kerens section access to the county seat and aid in developing unimproved lands. The highway to Athens will be a major state highway, giving Northeast Texas a route to Waco, Austin and San Antonio through Fairfield and Teague, and opening up a large amount of fertile territory in northeast Freestone county, containing a large part of the finest land in this section.

FOLDER EXPLAINS PLAN

Every family in Corsicana interested in having lower colds has a chance now to get acquainted with the unique aid in preventing colds—Vicks Vapo-nol.

Vapo-nol is especially designed for the nose and throat, where most colds start. It aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

Vapo-nol is easy and convenient to use—any time or place—at home or at work. Just a few drops up each nostril—at the first sign of discomfort in the nose—irritation or dryness, sniffle or sneeze. Used in time, it helps to avoid many a cold entirely.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Vapo-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

Vapo-nol's remarkable effectiveness has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians. Equal effectiveness is shown in its everyday home use—adding millions to greater freedom from colds.
